PREPARED FOR THE EXECUTIVE DBA COUNCIL SIXTH INTERNATIONAL ENGAGED MANAGEMENT SCHOLARSHIP CONFERENCE

Paris, France

September 8-11, 2016

ABSTRACT

Founded in 2011, the mission of the Executive DBA Council (EDBAC) is to foster excellence and innovation in executive doctoral degree programs worldwide. The Council's strategic focus includes being the primary point of contact and information source for these professional groups, for the media and business schools considering initiating executive doctoral degree programs, and to provide information on executive doctoral degree programs to prospective students. To support these ends using information available from member websites and other online sources, we present a description of 27 characteristics of 43 member schools and a summary table of characteristics across all schools.

PROFESSIONAL EXECUTIVE DOCTORATES: A COMPARISON OF MEMBER SCHOOLS OF THE EXECUTIVE DBA COUNCIL (EDBAC)

Larry M. Starr, William Connor McRory and Samuel Lim

Introduction

In 2015, Philadelphia University was preparing to launch a Doctor of Management (D. Mgt.) degree in Strategic Leadership. While immersed in studying the broad topic of professional doctorates and collecting and writing the curricular materials to be submitted to Middle States Commission on Higher Education in order to meet accreditation requirements, the website of the Executive DBA Council (www.edbac.org) was discovered. Realizing that the Council was an excellent source of information and knowledge, and that their peer-reviewed journal and annual conference offered opportunities for our new doctoral community, Philadelphia University applied and was approved to join as a member pending accreditation in September 2015 and the start of the program in January 2016.

The conception of the project began because while the Council provided a list of members (<http://www.executivedba.org/members>) this consisted of a photo of a building, the university and school name, degree name, and a link to a website. To understand the nature of each program required an individual search through each program website.

We created a program template into which we collected and presented three categories of the properties and characteristics of each program. We repeatedly visited each university and program website searching for information then reported what was found in the template.

Our presentation of results includes the following: We begin by presenting each university logo then list the university website and physical address including primary telephone number.

The Overview category has the following sections: School Affiliation which refers to the School in which the doctoral program is affiliated; School Web Page; Program Web Page; Degree(s) offered within the program; Program Leadership defined as the program director and others identified as content or administrative leaders; Program Contact which includes those who provide program information; and a link to the Application Form for admission.

The Academics category has the following sections: We present the program Mission or its equivalent; Accreditation such as AACSB which is relevant if the program is housed in a business school, and regional or national governing agencies; Delivery Method such as the degree to which a program is in-class and online; Entry Requirements such as prerequisite education and experience; Curriculum Overview which describes the nature of the education model and courses; Tuition and Fees annually and/or in total in US funds; Other which refers to distinctive program features; and Ranking of the program, related degree programs or of the School regionally, nationally or globally.

The Demographic category includes the following sections: Number of Faculty in the doctoral program; number of Courses Offered; number of Courses Required to earn the degree; Average Class Size; Number of Admitted Students in each cohort or annually; Average Age of students; Gender distribution; number of Graduating Students; Student Support in terms of financial resources or other measures; Where do Graduates Go in terms of how the education is applied after completion; and How Do You Measure Success as a measure of learning and contribution to society.

Results

We reviewed all institutional programs listed on the EDBAC website. Three of these, Franklin University, Missouri University of Science and Technology, and University of Alabama Huntsville, had no listing for a professional doctorate on their websites despite inclusion in the EDBAC list. The remaining 43 institutions presented their program with sufficient information to be included in the program template.

We summarized the programs in an Excel spreadsheet which allows comparison and ordering. For example, the doctoral programs are represented from 10 countries: Australia (2); Belgium (1), China (2); France (5); Netherlands (1); Peru (1); Switzerland (1); UK (4); UAE (1); and the United States (33). Tuition ranges from $37,000 (Lausanne Business School) to $150,000 (Case Western Reserve University Weatherhead School) although 8 schools do not report tuition.

Academics

Mission	Developing transformational ideas and outstanding leaders for the advancement of business and society.
Accreditation	Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB)
Delivery Method	3-year part-time. Each semester, four on-site residency sessions and two auxiliary virtual residency sessions
Entry Requirements	DM students must hold a graduate or professional degree and must have at least 15 years of work experience. Admission to the PhD is open to those who have graduated from the Doctor of Management (DM) program.
Curriculum Overview	Those in the DM will complete a 54-credit-hour, 3-year, lock-step program. In the first three years, students are enrolled in 3 classes per semester with workshops and assessments possibly in the summer sessions. The 3 rd year is the dissertation and thesis research. If interested in the PhD in Management: Designing Sustainable Systems, selection occurs from second-year DM students. PhD candidates complete a total of 4 years because they will read seminal works and acquire knowledge that leads to a grounding in their chosen discipline(s) (for example, marketing, strategy, accounting, information systems, organizational behavior, finance or economics). PhD students are required to take a comprehensive exam demonstrating knowledge of the field's theories, research methods and results. Upon passing the comprehensive exam, students are advanced to candidacy and will defend their PhD thesis proposal and the final thesis during their course of study.

Tuition and/or Fees	DM tuition for 2014-15 is $50,000 per year ($25,000 for each of two semesters per year). Total tuition for the 3-year degree program for those entering in fall 2013 is $150,000. PhD tuition is $25,000 for each of two semesters (total is $50,000) for the 4 th year of study after completing the DM.
Other	Our curricula and coursework provide a foundation for conducting rigorous research and practicing evidence-based management. Courses are interrelated theoretically and methodologically and prepare you to bring academic, theoretical and empirical perspectives to bear on problems that you face in your organization or in public policy advocacy.

Academics

Mission	To create and disseminate knowledge relevant to critical issues affecting management practice worldwide.
Accreditation	AACSB WASC PRME
Delivery Methods	In-class
Entry Requirements	Except in rare cases, applications are not accepted for the Ph.D. in Management program until after a student has completed appropriate graduate coursework at Claremont Graduate University. Those who do not hold an MBA should first apply to the MBA program or one of the school's Executive Management programs and successfully complete at least one year of coursework. Individuals who already hold an MBA or Executive Management degree from another institution are strongly encouraged to earn an Executive Management Certificate at the Drucker School. To be admitted, an applicant must secure a sponsor from our core faculty and present a detailed Plan of Study developed with the sponsoring faculty member. Applicants must have extensive familiarity with research in progress at the Drucker School. Those who have not completed Claremont Graduate University's Master's or executive management program are less likely to be admitted.

Curriculum Overview	The PhD requires completion of 72 semester units of coursework, including 24 semester units of management courses, a minimum of 12 units of research methodology at the doctoral level, and a maximum of 12 units of independent study with the sponsoring faculty member. After completing at least 32 units, but not more than 48 units, a major paper of publishable quality, equivalent to a Master's thesis and demonstrating breadth in the chosen research area, is required.
Tuition	$ 1,793 for each standard semester unit $ 2,059 for each executive semester unit $129,096 based on 72 standard units
Other	The sponsor and two additional faculty members administer an open oral examination. Upon successful completion of these requirements and all remaining coursework, a second paper, which serves as the dissertation proposal, is required. The student's doctoral committee, consisting of the faculty sponsor and two other eligible members of the faculty, administer a second, open oral examination. Successful students are then "advanced to candidacy." To complete the Ph.D. program, the student must submit and successfully defend the dissertation within seven years from the date of admission to the program.

Academics

Mission	This DBA program (Doctorate in Business Administration) has been created for managers and, more broadly, for upper level professional employees. Students are expected to have a minimum of five years professional experience prior to DBA study, and a post-graduate level diploma (e.g., Master, MBA). Indeed, the researched problematic should resolve a managerial issue you have encountered. Your research will be based on sound scientific methods and make a contribution to managerial knowledge. The DBA degree intends for you to stay in business and enhance your career. Nonetheless, the IUM DBA could be followed up and expanded through a traditional PhD diploma at a university, whereby one of IUM's habilitated professors might take the role of a supervisor.
Accreditation	NA
Delivery Method	The DBA is delivered by IUM, with recognition of the Monaco Government. The quality and rigor of the thesis on which basis the degree is awarded, are guaranteed by the supervising professors, themselves supported by the International Scientific Council of IUM. This Scientific Council is composed of academic professors and research scientists whose collective experience includes many dozens of doctoral thesis and hundreds of published scientific articles.

Entry Requirements	A Master degree min. (MSc, MA, Engineer degree, etc.) A statement of planned research of 1000 words maximum, written in English, listing a maximum of three relevant managerial problem statements you would like to research, and a description of their empirical application (must be sent to IUM AFTER the interview) A minimum of 5 years of work experience Proof of English proficiency (original test score sheet of TOEFL, TOEIC, The Cambridge Advanced or Proficiency Test, or IELTS)
Curriculum Overview	3 year program with 10 different modules. https://www.monaco.edu/programs/dba-doctoral-program.cfm#Curriculum
Tuition and/or Fees	€36,000 (for a 3-year program) In addition, students pay the IUM for Life Fee of 600€ that gives lifelong access to alumni services.
Other	The programme is fully compatible by design with an ongoing professional activity. This explains why several of those currently engaged in the Executive DBA are financed wholly or in part by their employer (private or public sector).
Academic or Program Ranking	The International University of Monaco MBA Program was ranked 89th out of 100 in The Economist magazine's "Which MBA" Ranking of 2014. Eduniversal – IUM listed among the top 1000 Business Schools in the world, with 4 stars.

Mission	The Rollins EDBA program is a professional doctoral program designed for executives who have an MBA or equivalent degree/experience. These professionals want to take their knowledge, learning, and ability to contribute to organizational success to a level significantly higher than that afforded by the MBA. Through the EDBA experience the student is positioned to be a thought leader and is differentiated from other managers by mastery of the advanced curriculum and applied research skills. The interdisciplinary nature of the program couples an advanced level general management focus with the opportunity for specialization through the dissertation process.

Delivery Method	Weekend residencies. Part-time.
Entry Requirements	Master's degree.
Curriculum Overview	3 years. First two years consist of coursework and research. Final year focuses on the dissertation.
Tuition and/or Fees	$10,300 per semester
Other	The DBA uses a unique student cohort model, hands-on learning laboratories and blended "executive program" style meeting formats to encourage collaboration and networking among colleagues. During the first two years of the program, the weekend residency focuses on face-to-face classroom instruction, while independent research and dissertation preparation take center stage in the DBA's final year. To fit the schedules of busy working professionals, most classes in the three-year, part-time program will meet at our Stamford Graduate Center at Landmark Square, five Fridays and Saturdays each trimester. The program is devised as an extension of graduate study beyond a master's degree in business and as a supplement to doctoral degrees in non-business fields.

Program Overview	The Doctor of Management Program (DM) is a scholar-practitioner based doctorate designed for full-time, experienced, working professionals. The DM program focuses on applied research and expanding leadership within the field of management. Major focus is on the integration of organizational management issues with technological considerations and the global environment, while considering the critical role of information technologies in all aspects of management practice. The most common professions UMUC graduates pursue are within local, state or federal government agencies, private businesses, higher education administration, and nonprofit organizations.
Accreditation	Commission on Higher Education of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools: http://www.umuc.edu/visitors/about/accreditation/index.cfm
Delivery Method	This is a hybrid doctoral program that utilizes online seminars and onsite mandatory residencies for communication and learning.
Entry Requirements	Successful completion of a master's degree (or higher) from a regionally accredited university (transcript required). NOTE: A completed admissions application must be submitted and reviewed for completion before enrollment in DMGT 600. After completion of DMGT 600, a grade of A or B is required in order to be granted official admission to the DM Program. If a grade of "C" is earned, then the applicant will have the option to repeat the course only once. If a grade of "F" is earned, then the applicant will be denied admission and cannot re-apply to the Doctor of Management program.
Curriculum Overview	Minimum of 48 credits required for completion of the program, including 36 credits of academic content courses and 12 credits of dissertation courses (only one course per term allowed and courses must be taken in the required sequence shown below) One mandatory (two-day) on-site residency per term required. Program Overview	The Ph.D. in Business Administration is a full-time research-oriented program, designed to prepare graduates for academic teaching and research careers. The program includes core courses covering all business disciplines, combined with in-depth study in both theoretical and empirical aspects of finance.
Accreditation	AACSB
Delivery Method	On site.
Entry Requirements	A baccalaureate or master's degree in business, economics, or a related field such as mathematical finance, mathematics, or physics with a minimum undergraduate GPA of 3.5 on a 4.0 scale. In the case where an applicant holds a master's degree, a minimum GPA of 3.25 on a 4.0 scale on all graduate coursework is required. A GMAT score of at least 650. The Belk College anticipates that most applicants that are admitted will have GMAT scores of 700 or higher. Although the GMAT is the preferred exam, the program will accept GRE scores in lieu of GMAT scores provided that the applicant scored at least 700 on the quantitative section and at least 500 on the verbal section.

	For non-native speakers of English who do not hold degrees from a U.S. university, a score of at least 83 on the internet-based TOEFL or 220 on the computer-based TOEFL is required. Non-native speakers of English may be required, at the discretion of the Graduate School or the Program Director for the Ph.D. in Business Administration, to enroll in ESL courses at the English Language Training Institute.
Curriculum Overview	The Graduate School requires that any student earning a Ph.D. must complete at least 72 post-baccalaureate semester-hours, including at least 18 hours of dissertation credit. Some of these graduate credit hours may include courses taken while enrolled in other graduate programs. It is a Belk College of Business requirement that any program of study within the Ph.D. in Business Administration must contain at least 42 semester hours of doctoral coursework, regardless of other graduate hours that the student may have previously earned. These 42 semester hours are in addition to the minimum 18 hours of dissertation credit that the Graduate School requires. The Plan of Study must contain a minimum of 18 hours in the major field, a minimum of 15 hours in the minor field, and a minimum of 9 hours in research-support courses.
Tuition and/or Fees	The Belk College anticipates admitting up to five students each academic year, subject to budgetary conditions. The College offers each admitted student a competitive compensation package consisting of a graduate assistantship, full tuition remission, and medical insurance (medical insurance is available for dependents at an additional cost). Students are only admitted on a full-time basis.
